CHRISTIAN KNIGHTHOOD

Father Harrington Addresses Members of Knights of Columbus.

DUTY OF TRUE CHRISTIANITY

Knighthood Essentially the Child of Faith and the Daughter of Pure Religion.

The following sermon was delivered by Father Harrington in the Church of the Nativity last Sunday atr Menlo Park.

Take of unto you the armour of God, that you may be able to resist in the evil day, and to stand in all things perfect. Stand therefor having your loins girth about with truth and having on the breastplate of justice, in all things taking the shield of faith and take unto you the helmet of salvation and the sword of the spirit which is the word of God. —Ephesians vi. 13-17.

My Dear Brethren and Brothers of the Knights of Columbus:—

I have selected these words from St. Paul's Epistle to the Ephesians as particularly appropriate and applicable to you Brother Knights who have enrolled yourselves under the Banner of the Cross and assumed the sacred dignity of Christian Knighthood. You have assembled in this church this morning as the local representatives of that great American Catholic organization the Knights of Columbus to commemorate the anniversary of the institution of your Council, and I certainly would be very remiss in my feelings of appreciation and courtesy did I not in the name of the Priest and People of the Parish assure you of the honor and pride that we feel in your visit and extend to you a hearty welcome to our parish and our community.

The words of my text are suggestive of the practical virtues and qualifications of Knighthood, for Christian Knighthood with all its virtues and its valor is the flower of Religion. It flourished and grew in the ages of faith and the origin of Knighthood carries us back across the span of centuries to that period known in history as the Middle Ages, those long dark years of social upheaval and barbaric conquest when the two bright and redeeming features were the great civilizing and Christianizing influence of the Catholic Church and the rise of Christian Knighthood, or as it is known in History the age of Chivalry. It was a time in Europe was overspread with forests of long spears and lances, when appeal to the sword was not only the last but the first arbiter of men's quarrels, when everything was decided by force and everything determined by the sword, when women and children and orphans were abandoned as a prey to iniquity and injustice. Old Christian Europe was reeling under the terrible blow of Barbaric invasions. They had uprooted her civilization and well nigh exterminated her Christianity. These Barbarians brought with them from their old forest homes in the North all the physical daring and prowess, valour and intrepid courage that had crowned their arms with the sweeping succession of victories, and made their names send a tremor of horror and dismay throughout what was left unconquered of old Christian Europe. It was in this juncture and terrible crisis of the world's history that the great Catholic Church rallied to the rescue and assistance of the threatened nations. She took hold of these hordes of Barbarians who with fire and sword were carrying death and destruction where so ever they went, who were mingling their blood with the blood of the old Latins and Celts in forming modern Europe, and she Christianized them and educated them and civilized them. Wise old mother as she was, with the centuries of experience behind her and the great future of humanity to work and to build for, she did not attempt to uproot or destroy the natural instincts of valour and bravery and war-like courage that were imbedded in the hearts of these rude North Men, but she would cherish and encourage these manly instincts of courage and valour, she would give them a new bent and a new direction by supernaturalizing them. They were to be dauntless and courageous warriors as of old but their victories were to be tempered with tenderness. In the future they were to arm for battle only that peace might prevail. They were to fight not as hirelings for gain, but henceforth their swords sanctified by the blessing of the Church were to be unsheathed only in defense of God, Religion, Justice, Truth, and the honor and virtue of Christian womanhood. And so the wild son of the Northern wilderness is moulded by the Church into the choicest soldier of Chivalry, and the rude unlettered and untutored barbarian is transformed by her civilizing power into the brave, strong but withal courteous Christian Knight.

"Chivalry" it has been beautifully said, "was a fair tree whose roots were Charity and humility, whose boughs were valour, fidelity, piety and devotion, and whose beautiful crown and flower was honor." Knighthood was essentially the child of faith and the daughter of Religion. The training of a Knight was a stern and tedious task. They were severely taught to respect age, experience, rank and authority, to reverence weakness, to compassionate suffering, misfortune and distress. They were expected to excel in courage, in courtesy, in generosity, in truthfulness and in loyalty. The great patrimony of the Knight was his horse, his armour, his valor, and his honor. Piety, bravery and modesty were the distinctive qualifications of Knighthood, want of truth and perjury were considered the most shameful and disgraceful of crimes. The Catholic Knight gloried in his unsullied name and reputation, rejoiced in deed of daring, battled injustice and wrong, scorned lies, revered the truth, loved his God, reverenced womanhood and was passionately devoted and loyal to Holy Mother Church. If oppressed innocence and virtue that was wrong called for the aid and assistance of a Knight woe to him if he did not respond to that appeal, shame, undying shame and ostracism were his patrimony to the end of his days. He prepared for his immediate reception into the ranks of Knighthood by spending the entire night in fast and prayer before Jesus in the Blessed Sacrament, his sword having been previously laid at the feet of Our Lady. On the day of his reception having confessed his sins and received his Divine Master in Holy Communion, his armour and his sword were girthed about him with the blessings of the Church and in the name of God Almighty and Saint Michael the patron of Knighthood, and then unsheathing his sword, he swore to battle and to die for God, his Religion and the Ladies.

The distinguishing glory of Knighthood was its reverence for Christian womanhood. The name of Christian woman was never mentioned but in the profoundest and deepest respect. We read of no divorces in the middle ages, or even of few separations, desertions or alienations. These things are a modern improvement. The awe and the devotions with which the young Knight regarded his bride became an undying affection in the husband, the matron maintained the rank which had been assigned to her as maiden, and woman under the influence of Chivalry and under the patronage and protection of Knighthood became the star of man's worship and devotion. She might walk the land in those days, throughout the length and breadth thereof, unattended and unmolested secure in her person and her honor. To rehabilitate and elevate woman, to look upon her as the helpmate of man, to regard her as a ministering spirit who was destined to enoble, to soften and spiritualize the rough and hard hew nature of man, this was the aim and the spirit of Knighthood, and it was an impulse born of Catholic Faith and the refining influence of the Gospel of a tendered Jesus.

Whence this veneration for woman found in the Catholic Knighthood of the Middle Ages? It had its origin like all other beautiful virtues of Knighthood in the practical principles of Catholic Faith. It sprung from that Chivalric veneration and reverence towards Her whom the Catholic Church has always taught men to greet and salute by the sweet, tender name of mother. She, that peerless lady to whom the Knight first dedicated his life and his sword, Mary the Mother of God. No Knight was ever ashamed to be thought religious. The steel-clad and bronzed warrior said his prayers every day and never neglected the Holy sacrifice of the Mass. On the eve of battle they prepared for the fight whetting their trusty swords with one hand, and with the other leaning on the Lord Jesus Christ whom they received with ardor at the altar where His Blood mystically flowing shrived them from their faults and sanctified their souls.

And so it was that Christian Knighthood fostered by Religion, blessed by the Church, remarkable for its spotless honor and its untarnished virtue, distinguished for its superhuman bravery in the field and its unruffled gentleness and courtesy at the fire-side, noted for its pure, exalted and refined reverence for woman, undying devotion to Religion, and attachment to simple-minded faith, that chastity of honor which felt a stain like a wound, it was this Knighthood that a way back in those stern wild Middle Ages under the beautiful power of Catholicicy, produced that perfect, courteous, manly, courageous Catholic gentlemen, the Sir Knight, the fairest soldier of Chivalry, and the Christian hero whose sublimity and grace has thrown a halo of poetry and romance around that period of the world's history and would have shed lustre and beauty upon any age.

And then amidst the social turmoil of Europe came the opportunity for the Knights to test their valor and their worth. Entire Christendom called out to them to deliver from desecration and sacrilege the tomb of the world's Redeemer. In a vision we can see Peter the Hermit in burning words of eloquence picturing the desecration of the sacred spots sanctified by the life and blood of Jesus Christ now in the keeping and hands of Infidels. Oh, what a torrent of the motions in those days of fervid faith swept through the souls of men at the mention of the tomb of their Saviour and the Holy Land of his birth. It was to them in truth the cradle of Christianity, the city of the Son of God and the dwelling place of the King of Angels. There in that sacred spot was consummated the great sacrifice of Cavalry, and there the eternal Son of God was slain for the redemption of mankind. What marvel was it if at the sound of those sacred names every chord of affection was awakened, all the fountains of human feeling were profoundly stirred, as in the public marts of Clermont the mighty multitudes listened to the burning and eloquent words that told of religious insults and religious wrongs, till at length in an acme of enthusiasm unparelled in the world's history and with the tears streaming down their cheeks their cry is re-echoed afar on every wind "God wills it, God wills it." Yes indeed re-echoed the saintly Pontiaff Urban, yes God wills it and let this memorable word be your battle cry. Take the cross the symbol of your salvation and wear it upon your breast as the pledge of your irrevocable engagement to your Holy Cross. Look at the steel-clad Knights, their glancing Morions, and the long lines of glittering spears as they march away to far-famed Palestine. What a sublime spectacle those legions were as after months of weary journey with prayerful steps and high-bounding hearts they catch the first sight of the Holy City of Jerusalem, as with glittering shield and gleaming lance and good sword in their hands they stood ready to dare and to die for the Holy cause that brought them from their homes their country and their firesides. What matters it that the Crusades were not a success? What matters that these brave and courtly Knights perish like the leaves of the forest and mingle their bones with the hot Syrian dust. Their memory and their deeds will never die. "Never shall I wear a crown of gold," cried the brave warrior Godfrey De Boullion when elected King of Jerusalem "where my Redeemer carried a crown of thorns."

"Never," said the great warrior of the Cross, the unterrified Tancreed, "shall I relinquish Palestine, while forty Knights remain to defend it." Oh, these men lived in an atmosphere of Religion. They loved their God and they loved their Church and their lives were ruled and guided by a sublime and magnificent faith.

Brave they were and gentle and tender, for the brave are always gentle and tender, Knights without fear or reproach, but withal strong and simple souls, who loved honor and virtue and justice and truth and God and Religion more than they loved life.

Brothers of the Knights of Columbus, I have nearly completed my task. It was to portray for you a picture of Catholic Knighthood as it flourished in the ages of Faith, a picture of that Knighthood which will always remain as the subline and heroic type of true Christian Knighthood. It has been said that the age of Chivalry is passed. True indeed the social and political conditions that made the Knighthood of the middle ages a possibility is passed and gone, and those conditions and those days, we would not call them back again. With them has gone the glamour and the external trappings of Knightly adornment. With them has disappeared the steel-clad warrior and the tournaments and the shields and the helmets and the military orders of Knighthood, that gave to the ages of chivalry their fame and their fascination. Gone all these externals may be, but is the spirit of Knighthood itself dead, and the spirit of chivalry, why should it be gone? Do we not today possess the same old faith, from which sprung the lofty virtues, the tender sentiments, and the exalted feelings of Knighthood? Are we not members of the same grand old Church who originated and fostered and blessed the strong and hardy Knighthood of the long centuries ago? Has Religion lost its power to refine, to enoble, and to elevate? Honor, Piety, Faith, Integrity, Loyalty, Generosity, have they all gone? We brothers call ourselves Knights. Do we realize what the name Knighthood stands for? Do we know that it means the possession of that manly courage and of all those virtues that characterized the sturdy Catholic Knight in the ages of strong and hardy Faith? And if the external pomp and ceremonial of Knighthood has passed and gone, if the ages of the Crusades and steel-clad warriors is but a beautiful vision of the past, still is there not in our country and our day a crying need for that noble spirit of chivalry and those beautiful virtues of Knighthood; and if our modern Knighthood does not possess them and develop them in its members, then the name Knight is a mockery and a travestry of the noble character of Catholic historical Knighthood.

Knights of Columbus whose name do you bear? You bear the name of that immortal navigator, who was in every sense a true Knight, the type of a noble heroic courteous Catholic gentleman. What was the idea that dominated his whole life, that spurred him on to launch out into that dim soundless sea, which no man had ever traversed in the discovery of a new way to the wealth and the riches of the far Indies? It was that he might use that wealth and those riches for the recovery and the restoration of the tomb of the world's Redeemer, it was that he might carry the banners of the Gospel and the light of true Faith and the Cross of Christ to the countless tribes that sat in darkness, and unite all men into one Christian empire under the diminion of the Church of Jesus Christ.

This was the idea that dominated, aye, transfigured the whole man, that filled him with the spirit of the old Crusaders like a doughty warrior ready to take up his sword against the Moslem, that sent him out into the wild trackless deep, from whence nothing but tempest tossed fragments had ever come, to civilized shores, and when he landed on that memorable day, the 12th of October, he took possession of this new land in the name of God, and erected there the symbol if Catholicity, the Cross of our Crucified Master. We brothers are citizens of this mighty country, of which Columbus was the discoverer, children of that grand old Church of which he was a loyal and devoted son. To be Roman Catholics and to be American citizens, what greater incentives to the spirit of Knighthood? To be American citizens—why in that elder day the Roman's proudest boast was "I am a Roman Citizen," it ought to be our boast, that we are citizens of this new and mighty republic of the west. To be Roman Catholics—children of that Church that has made the modern history of the world and that has withstood the storms and tempests of twenty centuries, what greater incentives I repeat to the spirit of Knighthood. What nobler mission can any fraternal organization have, than that which is the aim of the Knights of Columbus, the hopes of its founders and the purpose of its leaders, an organization which by its lofty enthusiasm, generous ideals, high toned honor, practical Catholicity and unfaltering loyality to Holy Mother Church, aims to grace our land, and to garnish it with a glory of the days of old and the days of Faith; aims to foster and develop among Catholic gentlemen the beautiful virtues of chivalry and the sublime spirit of Knighthood that made the names Gentlemen and Knights words to conjure by in the days when Knighthood was in flower. Hence as you well know, Brothers, not everyone is welcome to our ranks. Not everyone is capable of living up to our ideals, because it is not everyone who possesses either by nature or acquirement those instincts and qualifications that the Knights of Columbus demand in the true Catholic Gen-

COUNCIL DISPOSES OF SALOON QUESTION

Long & Green Fail in Effort to Induce Trnstees to Reconsider Former Order.

Trustees Will Insist Upon Modern Sidewalk Construction—Will Protect Home Merchants.

All of the Trustees were present at the adjourned meeting of the Council Monday evening, one of the reasons for the holding of which was to give final consideration to the applications for licenses of the saloons supposed to be within the proscribed public school limits. The result of the investigation was the granting of one application and the refusal of two others. LaRouie Bros., the proprietors of the saloon at the corner of Broadway and Washington, were the lucky individuals, escaping by the narrow margin of 15 inches.

At the opening of the session, attorney George C. Ross addressed the Council, calling attention to what he considered a defect in the new city map which might lead to confusion. The defect mentioned by Mr. Ross was the failure to follow the usual custom of placing the northerly points at the top of the map. He called attention to the fact that the law required that in all deeds locations with reference to adjacent subdivisions must be designated by the compas directions, and suggested that the general custom of considering that the top of a map indicated north would lead to confusion in this important particular. Chairman Merrill, in reply, stated that the map was not intended to be official, but to be used as the basis of an engraving from which small maps were to be printed for circulation as a matter of general convenience. The tracing in this map had been made diagonally as being the most convenient position on the paper.

L. Jensen, proprietor of the bowling alley, presented a communication asking for some relief from the provisions of the ordinance regulating such places. Under the ordinance boys under 18 years of age are prohibited from being about the place in any capacity. This gave him serious trouble in securing help about the alleys, as boys over 18 would not accept employment at setting up pins. The Trustees recognized the difficulty of the situation, and in view of the fact that the provision was made largely with a view of preventing young boys from visiting such places for amusement and against the wishes of parents, felt inclined to give the desired relief. After some discussion, a resolution presented by Trustee Beeger was adopted, permitting the employment of boys between the ages of 15 and 18 years of age under written consent of their parents.

In a written communication, Mrs. Lydia Dugan asked the Council to signify as to whether or not a liquor license would be granted for the St. Charles Hotel if she should erect a building on the rear portion of her lot and without the 200-foot limit from the school building, and provided either Mr. Sheehan or some other acceptable person applied for the license. In support of her plea, Mrs. Dugan stated that her property was heavily mortgaged and the loss of rent if the building were vacated would probably result in its loss to her.

The Trustees, while showing a disposition to treat Mr. Dugan with every possible consideration, were averse to acting in advance in a matter of this character, especially as there appeared to be some controversy between Mrs. Dugan and Sheehan. After considerable argument final action was deferred until a later meeting.

The City Attorney reported that the saloons of C. Imporsani and B. Sheehan were within 200 feet of the school building and both applications for permits were denied. The application of LaRoule Bros. was granted, the report showing their place to be 201 feet and three inches from the school.

Charles Long appeared before the Board and asked that the action disallowing the application of Long & Green for a saloon permit and license should be reconsidered He asked that they be given an opportunity to defend themselves, claiming they could show they had conducted their place in a proper manner. Trustee Riee informed Mr. Long that numerous complaints had been made against the place, and that it was upon these that his motion to refuse the permit was based. Mr. Rice made it plain that he was ready to treat all with fairness, and stated that if it could be shown that the information upon which his action was based was incorrect he would be ready to move for a reconsideration. At the same time he appeared to place considerable reliance upon the stories he had heard. In order to give Mr. Long an apportunity to produce any evidence he might have, he was informed that he would be given an opportunity to present any witnesses Wednesday evening, when the Board would meet for that purpose.

Marshal Christ asked for instructions in reference to a more thorough enforcement of the law requiring a license from solicitors, which was being evaded by

Let the youngsters celebrate the Glorious Fourth to their heart's content. Give them fire crackers and let them make as much noise as they wish, but keep a careful eye on them while hey atre doing it. One carele s y thrown cracker may cause the destruct on of valuable prop erty or do serious injury to some innocent spectat r.

Saloon keepers of this city would do well to take heed of the recent action of the Co.nc l. There is 1o reason why this business should not be conducted with due regard to public propriety. Were this fact more generally recognized by those en gaged in the trade much of the present opposition to the business would cease.

On the first page of this issue of the Times-Gazette will be found a full report of the ssermon delivered by Rev. Father Harrington at the Church of the Nativity at Menlo Park last Sunday, on the occasion of the celebration tof the anniversary of the institution of San Mateo Council Knights of Columbus. Not only is this sermon one of special interest to Catholics, but is more than worthy of careful perusal by members of every faith.

Importance of Redwood Creek.

Following is the report which has just been completed and forwarded to Colonel Biddle by the committee named by the citizens of this city to investigate the commercial importance of Redwood creek.

Lieut. Col. John Biddle, Corps of Engineers, U. S. A., 726 Chronicle Building.

Dear Sir:

Relative to a fpecial committee appointed to investigate the question of dredging Redwood Creek so as to make it available for light draft navigation, we are pleased to report as follows:

We find that present available annual tonnage is now being handled through Redwood Creek is as follows;

S. H. Frrnk & Co	15,000
Alaska Codfish Co	3,000
Grecco Salt Co	5,000
Beeger Tanning Co	1,500
Foley-sand etc	13,000
Tacoma Mill Co	10,000
Stauffer Chemical Co.	7,000
Additional smaller items such as coal, sand feed, etc	3,000
Total	57,500

We also find upon investigation that the above tonnage is moved under very adverse conditions due to low water; and much additional tonnage must go by rail as it is impossible to charter schooners to make this run because much of this freight must be rehandled on to lighters and barges.

We believe that if shipping facilities were improved as proposed, we could safely count on an immediate additional annual tonnage of at least 20,000 tons.

From the above figures it is obvious that the improvement of this water way would immediately effect an annual tonnage of nearly 80,000 tons and we eave every reason to believe that if this improvement is carried through, it will pave the way for establishing many industries on the shores of Redwood Creek. We have many expressions of opinion from concerns who would locate here at once and would provide a goodly annual tonnage provided the creek were dredged to suit the necessities of proper handling of freight and we beg to ehclose herewith a few letters from some of these concerns which will give you an idea as to how this improvement is regarded by firms outside of our own already established industries.

We are not in a position to give an engineers opinion as to just how much work will be required to put this creek in proper condition to make it suitable for schooeer navigation as we believe that your experience in this line of work coupled with formal engineers report based on soundinge, etc., would determine this point, but, basing our estimate of work required upon work formerly done abovttwenty years ago, we believe that an appropriation of $50,000 would do this work and would improve the creek to such an extent as to materially improve the industriti condition of this city.

In conclusion we trust that you will investigate this question at an early date as we feel that it is of great importance to the future of our city and that you will report favorably on the matter and in the meanwhile if we can furnish any more data covering the subject, kindly command us.

In making this report the committee have given the matter careful consideration and have been at considerable pains to ascertain the exact facts There has been no attempt to magnify the amount of shipping to and from this point, or to unduly estimate its future importance. While the present tonnage, as shown by the reportt would seem to amply justify the General Government in the expenditure of the small sum needed for this important work, the possibilities of future increase is even a stronger argument. Letters forwarded with the report indicate clearly the fact that the lack of proper water facilities is the only thing that prevents several important manufacturing enterprises from locating here. Not only this, but the lack of facilities which nature intended we should have compells the payment of much additional freight tribute to the railway by the people now in business here.

Those interested in this enterprise feel assured that Colonel Biddle is inclined to treat this section with fairness, and will give full heed to the showing made. The efforts for better water facilities mmust not be allowed to stop here however. Copies of this report should be forwarded to Congressman Hayes and the other representatives from this State, and it must be seen to that they are interested in the needs of Redwood City.

the subterfuge of renting a small room into which a very small quantity of the goods for which it was intended to canvas was placed, and then attempting to operate under a merchant's license. The Trustees instructed the Marshal to make arrests whenever he found attempts at evasions of the law, and directed the City Attorney to vigorously prosecute all such offenders.

Street Superintendent Dickey suggested that the laying of macadam sidewalks be discontinued and that in the future all walks laid be of concrete. The Trustees favored the plan, the opinion being unanimous that ultimately the concrete was the most economical and that the change would add much to the general appearance of the city. The Attorney was directed to prepare a resolution providing for the change.

Trustee Hynding called attention to the dangerous condition of the walk at the cemetery, and at his suggestion the Clerk was directed to request the Supervisors to make the necessary repairs.

Although considerable time was devoted to a discussion of the proposed street improvements in district 12, no action was taken on the specifications. The Trustees are evidently favorably impressed with the sample of reinforced concrete macadam pavement laid by Chadbourne & Co. on Stafford street and are inclined to favor its use in this improvement if possible. Members of Board also stated that they had been approached by a number of property owners who favor its use. Chairman Merrill suggested that a mass meeting of those interested be called for an expression of opinion. As these people pay for the improvement, which will involve an outlay of something over $125,000, he beleived the Board should be governed by their wishes as far as possible. This suggestion met with general approval, and it is probable a meeting will be called in the near future.

Trustee Beeger presented a copy of the report to Col. Biddle of the committe appointed by the citizens to secure data as to the tonage and commercial importance of Redwood Creek. The report was given the endorsement of the Council.

The Board then adjourned, to meet on Wednesday evening for the purpose of giving Long & Green an opportunity to refute accusations of past misconduct of their saloon.

When the Council met Wednesday evening Trustee Beeger failed to put in an appearance, although the opening of the meeting was delayed until some time past the usual hour in the hope of securing a full attendance. With the opening of the meeting, Chairman Merrill informed Mr. Long that the Board was ready to hear any testimony that he might have.

Although Long had previously stated that he had heard rumors of specific acts of misconduct he made no attempts to refute these, and to a great extent his testimony was negative in character and was confined to generalities. In his behalf statements were presented by a number of business men in the vicinity stating that they had seen nothing objectionable in the recent conduct of the place. In his own behalf, Long avered that his place was conducted as orderly as many other similar places, and made the promise that if given another opportunity he would use especial care to keep within the law.

By way of cross examination, Long was given a rather severe grilling by Trustee Rice. In answer to questions, he admitted that both himself and his partner had been intoxicated on several occasions. When confronted with other specific acts his replys were frequently evasive, and of the "don't remember" order.

At the close of the questioning, Chairman Merrill inquired what disposition the Board desired to make of the matter. This was followed by some few moments of silence, when Trustee Hynding offered a motion that the previous action be rescinded and the license permit granted. The motion failed to receive a second, both Trustees Brown and Rice announcing that they would decline to either second or vote for the motion. With this Chairman Merrill announced that the action refusing the license must stand.

Monday being a legal holiday, the regular meeting will be held Tuesday evening.

The saloons are remaining open and have not ben molested by the officers. The authorities will not act owing to the fact that there are not 500 students on the Stanford campus at present, they being away on vacation. The act passed by the Legislature requires 500 resident students on the campus of any University with a registration of 1000. Hayward Gets More Time

The State Board of Equalization has extended the time to assessor Hayward for delivering the assessment roll of the county to the Supervisors to and including July 13th. The law requires the roll to be delivered to the Supervisors on July first.

This is the first time in 15 years that Mr. Hayward has asked for an extension of time and this year he was compelled to do so on account of the extra work in his office owing to the many transfers taking place during the year.

Nine thousand transfers were made during the past two years making a total of 14,000 assessments in the county a compared with 3500 ten year ago. In 1899 the property valuation of the county was $13,749,395 and this year it is $23,500,000, a gain of nearly 100 per cent in 10 years. No county in the state has made such a showing.

BUILDING OF FIRST RAILROAD

Some Incidents of the Building of the Original San Francisco and San Jose Railroad.

This week is continued the history of the construction of the San Jose and San Francisco Railroad.

At the meeting of the board of Directors at which the contract for the building of the road was let, William J. Lewis was selected as the chief engineer of the company, and the active work of securing the right of way and pushing the construction was placed in the hands of Judge Dame, the general attorney of the Company. It is needless to say that the announcement of material progress was hailed with joy over the entire section.

At the session of the Legislature in 1861, the question of granting public aid to the construction of this road by the counties through which it was to run was again presented. For this purpose three special Acts were introduced, each similar in its peneral provisions, but one relating to San Francisco County, one to this County and one to Santa Clara County, varying in the amount to be appropriated. The bill for this county provided for a subscription to the stock of $100,000. The law as passed, provided that the question of making the subscription and issuing bonds for the amount should be submitted to the voters of the county at a special election to be held on the third Monday in May. It was provided that if the vote on the question was favorable the Supervisors should immediately subscribe for stock of the company to the amount of $100,000, appointing a special committee of three members of the Board for that purpose, the subscriptions to be paid in amounts of not exceeding 10 per cent at any one time and only as the work progressed. To secure the money needed for the subscriptions it was provided that bonds should be issued in denominations of $500 and $1000 each, to run for 15 years and to bear interest at the rate of 7 per cent. The Supervisors were also empowered to appoint one or more of the members of the Board as a committee to represent the interests of the county at meetings of the stockholders and to vote the stock held in the name of the county. It was also provided that before any subscriptions to the stock should be paid by the county, the Secretary and Chief Engineer of the road must present a statement under oath of the work done in construction and the amount of money expended therefor, and that a sum at least equal to that demanded from the county must have been expended from other sources. The law also provided that the county should be held for no liability beyond the amount of the subscription.

That the proposal to issue bonds of the county for the assistance of the important work was destined to meet with even public opposition is shown by the fact that the grand jury, in session at the time the act was introduced in the Legislature, severely criticised the proposition, devoting a large portion of their report to an argument against the adoption of the plan by the voters, and expressing the belief that if the question was submitted to popular vote chicanery would be resorted to for the purpose of securing votes in its favor. It was even intimated that the county would be colonized with railroad laborers for this purpose, although at this time nothing was being done in the way of actual construction. The grand jury even went so far in its opposition as to suggest that is the law should be passed the Board of Supervisors should take the plainly illegal stand of attempting its nullification by failing to obey its mandates and refusing to call an election.

At a special meeting of the Board of Supervisors, held on April 22d, an order was passed calling for the special election to determine the question of the subscription, for the third Tuesday in May, 1861. From this time until the day of election, those interested in the success of the enterprise kept up a constant canvas among the voters, while the Gazette lent much aid as an advocate of the adoption of the proposal. Public meetings were held throughout the county, at which officials of the company and public men generally presented their arguments. The reprerentatives of the company explained the plan of construction, and quoted statistics from similar enterprises in Eastern States to prove that practically from the time of the completion of the road large dividends would be paid and that from this source alone the bonds of the county could be liquidated within the 15 years which they were to run. In the mean time the actual work of construction was commenced in both this and Santa Clara counties. The first work was commenced April 22d, 1861, in the northern portion of Santa Clara County, and two weeks later grading was commenced in this county.

The elections, which were held simultaneously in the three counties, resulted in a decided victory for the advocates of the county subscription. In San Francisco the proposition carried by a majoity of 5990, while Santa Clara County gave a majority of about 900, In this county the majority in favor of the bonds was 182, although for a time during the canvas it had been feared that San Mateo county would so locse sight of her opportuuity as to give a majority in opposition. While it was codceeded that some of the coast precincts would show strong opposition, it was also feared by some that this city would fail to sanction the subscription, as some considerable opposition to the plan had been developed. The result here showed a vote of 177 for the subscription and but 60 in opposition. At Woodside the vote in favor of the bonds was but 36, while the opponents secured 50. The precinct developing the strongest opposition was Purissima, where the vote was 51 against and but 1 in favor of the plan. At a special meeting of the Board of Supervisors held May 25th a resolution declaring the favorable result in this county was adopted, and Supervisors J. V. Diller and J. P. Ames were named as the committee of the Board to represent the county at meetings of the stockholders. The Clerk was also instructed to have the necessary bonds printed.

On the 20th of July, 1961, McLaughlin & Huston, the contractors for the railroad, advertised for bids for furnishing 60,000 redwood ties. These were to be delivered in lots of 10,000 each at the following places: San Jose, Santa Clara, San Francisquito Creek, Redwood City, Belmont and San Mateo.

tlemen. We want only the choicest and the best, the choicest and the best because it was the dream of the founders of the Knights of Columbus to build up an organization of representative Catholic Gentlemen, an organization that would constitute a flower of Catholicity; the choicest and best because they alone can assure the life, the security and the existence of our order. Look to it, Brothers, our ranks must absolutely be open only to the choicest and the best, let them be peasant or manor born, that makes no difference because it is character and nobility of soul, and not economic conditions of birth that constitute the gentleman, because the most perfect type of manhood that ever graced this earth, Jesus Christ, was born in a stable in poverty and obscurity; but when they do come to us they must bring with them as credentials, intelligence, the Christian virtues of knighthood, the instincts of Gentlemen, enobled and supernaturalized by the possession of a practical living Catholic Faith and unswerving loyalty and devotion to Holy Mother Church.

Open the pages of history and read there the sad story of the decay and fall of Knighthood, after the age of the Crusades had passed. Once Knighthood had lost the remembrance and consciousness of those virtues that gave it its power and strength, once the Knights began to swerve in their loyalty and devotion to the Church their path of decline was rapid and today the so-called successors of the military orders of Knighthood are under the ban and curse of that Church that once had founded and blessed and encouraged them.

History, Brothers, is written among other things for our warning and history invariably repeats itself. Therefore if the Knights of Columbus would live and carry on its great sublime work for the Catholic Church of America, only such Knights as I have attempted to portray in today's discourse are worthy to be the successors of the Chevaliers of Chivalry, only men who put on the armour of God and the helmet of Salvation, and the breast plate of Justice, who stand with their loins girth about with truth and the sword of the spirit, which is the Word of God, are worthy to be members of the Knights of Columbus, because it is only in men of this character that courtesy and valor and honor and nobility of life and Faith will combine to produce for the admiration of forthcoming generations the genuine true born Catholic Gentleman.

Old Officials Retained.

The nineteenth annual meeting of the share holders of the San Mateo County Building and Loan Association was held at the office of the association in this city Monday evening, at which 3410 shares were represented. The old board of directors was re-elected and given a vote of thanks for its efficient management during the last year which has been very successful. It was suggested that next year the twentieth anniversary should be fittingly celebrated.

After the adjournment of the meeting the directors met and re-elected all of the old officers as follows: P. P. Chamberlain, president; J. L. Ross, vice president; Claus Hadler, James Crowe and J. Cullen, security committee; A. D. Walsh and H. W. Schaberg, finance committee; First National Bank of San Mateo County, treasurer; Geo. W. Lovie, secretary.

The association will mature its 25th series at the next meeting of the directors which will be held July 7th, distributing $7000 among the holders of shares therein.

League Names Officers.

The members of the Good Government League were entertained by the president, Geo. H. Elliot at his home on Roosevelt avenue Saturday evening last, a large number of the members being present. The evening was spent in social chat until 10 o'clock when all sat down to a bountiful spread. The good things to eat and drink were discussed until 12 o'clock when the regular meeting of the league for the nomination of officers for the coming year took place. E. H. Sampson was placed in nomination for president. H. A. Lanfear for vice president, W. H. Kelso for secretary-treasurer, and B. L. Werder, A. M. Robertson and John Cowgill for members of the executive committee. Speeches were made by Professor McCrea, Mayor Merrill, G. H. Elliot, B. C. Byrd, John Cowgill, H. A. Lanfear and others, all of which were enthusiastically received and applauded. After a number of toasts had been given and a vote of thanks tendered the president the meeting adjourned until next month when the election of officers will take place.

Will Have Big Time.

The combination Fourth of July celebration at the North end of the county under the auspices of 6000 Home Builders of the Crocker Tract, Hillcrest, Mission Tract, Vista Grande and Colma promises to be the biggest event of the age. Elaborate preparations are being made for the occasion. There will be more people there next Monday than has ever gathered in any part of the county before.

The Center of Attraction.

The sale of lots in Dingee Park goes merrily on. No less than 45 lots having been sold at private sale since the auction.

As is well known, the people of Redwood City bought heavily at the auction, and have continued to buy ever since.

There is nothing that shows the merit of property better, than the buying of same by local people. The oustider has confidence where the local people show theirs.

Quite a number of lots have been sold to people of Berkeley, Oakland and Alameda, and in every case, these people stated that they bought for future homes.

The following letter was received by Baldwin & Howell last week:

Redwood City, June 25, 1909.

Baldwin & Howell, 318-24 Kearny st., San Francisco.

Dear Sirs:—On May first of this year we purchased lots 7 and 9, in block 3, Dingee Park.

We purchased these lots because we realized the future value of them.

We have made our home in Redwood City or the past two years and therefore know the advantages this most delightful climate affords.

The Dingee Park property is the prettiest tract of land on the peninsula, and located within a block or two of the depot as it is, the future value of this property is apparent.

We have refused an offer of advance of 28 per cent on our purchase price. (signed) Baird Bros, Contractors and Builders.

Baird Bros. are not the only ones. Others have refused handsome profits but so far but one man has yielded to the temptation of a profit of $150. Lot 17, block 4, was sold at auction for $700.00, and resold two weeks later for $850.00, the first buyer making a profit of $150.00 on a investment of $10.

Poison Oak Poisoning.

Ballard's Snow Liniment cures it. Mr. O. H. P. Cornelius. Surner, Ore., writes: My wife has discovered that Snow Liniment cures "Poison Oak Poisoning," a very painful trouble. She not only cured a case of it on herself, but on two of her friends who were poisoned by this same ivy. Price 25c, 50c and $1.00.

GO TO THE RESCUE.

Don't Wait till it's Too Late—Follow the Example of a Redwood City Citizen.

Rescue the aching back.
If it keeps on aching, trouble comes.
Backache is kidney ache.
If you neglect the kidneys' warning,
Look out for urinary trouble—diabetes.

This Redwood City citizen will show you how to go to the rescue.

C. J. Bettin, living at 607 Cedar st., Redwood City, Cal., says: "Some eight or ten years ago I slipped and strained my back and from that time on I was more or less troubled by a dull, heavy pain across my loins and kidneys. Seeing Doan's Kidney Pills highly advertised, I procured a box and commenced using them. They went directly to the seat of my trouble, strengthening my back and regulated the action of the kidney secretions. I can say that the claims made for this remedy were prov-true to me."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co, Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

Assessor's Instructions

To Owners of Real Estate and Personal Property.

The law requires each and every person who owns any class of property to, annually, during the months of March, April or May, file a statement with the Assessor or his deputy in the county where the property is located. You should give a statement of all property owned by you on the first Monday in March at 12 o'clock m.

If you hold mortgages against others send in a mortgage statement showing amount due on each mortgage on the first Monday in March at 12 o'clock m.

No change can be made by the Assessor after he turns his books over to the Board of Supervisors on the first Monday in July. The Boards then sets as a Board of Equalization during the month of July.

Remember, if you fail to give in your assessment you fail to comply with the law and may cause yourself, the Assessor and Tax Collector much trouble, and very likely cause yourself expense.

It is much more satisfactory to the Assessor, as well as to yourself, to have your assessment correct when you go to pay your taxes.

C. D. HAYWARD,
Assessor, San Mateo County.
